ELLIPTIC SEWING MACHINE.

Highest Premiums, New York and Pennsylvania State Fairs, 1866

Report of Committee on Sewing Machines, at New York State Fair

"We, the Committee on Sewing Machines, after a careful and thorough investigation into the respective merits of the various machines submitted for examination, find the Elliptic Lock Stitch Sewing Machine to be

SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS

In the following points, namely
Simplicity and Thoroughness of Mechanical Construction
Ease of Operation and Management
Noiselessness and Rapidity of Movement.
Beauty, strength and Elasticity of Stitch
Variety and Perfection of Attachments, and Range of Work
Compactness and Beauty of Model and Finish
Adaptation to Material of any Thickness, by an Adjustable Feed Bar, and in the Unequaled Precision with which it Executes the Lock Stitch, by means of the Elliptic Hook, and we therefore award it the First Premium, as the BEST FAMILY SEWING MACHINE, and also, for the above reasons, the First Premium, as the BEST DOUBLE THREAD SEWING MACHINE."

Titusville Morning Herald.

Colorado as a Territory.

From the New York Times

The Spring tide of travel over the plains, from all accounts, is already setting in with a sweep and volume hitherto unparalleled. The reports generally from the mines are healthy, that is, they are of a nature not to attract wild speculation, but presenting solid inducements to active and intelligent industry, and to enterprise and capital regulated by discretion and honest application.

The steady and satisfactory progress, too, of the Pacific Railway is having a powerful influence in directing the stream of emigration to the Colorado fields. Over one long section of the road the grade is reported to be so easy that a subcontract has been taken for laying the rails on three hundred miles in one hundred days. If this contract is filled—and good security has been given for its execution—the first day of May next will witness the completion of a continuous line of railroad from the best ore beds of the Territory to the Atlantic seaboard. The proportion of railroad employes that are seeking and are certain to seek employment as miners naturally tends to a reduction in the price of labor, which has heretofore been generally out of proportion to the amount of capital and the available mining appliances in the shape of machinery and scientific direction.

The reports from the mines it is said, have, in some instances, tempted soldiers stationed on the plains to desert. Whether the emigration now bound westward, and which may be expected to increase every day for the next eight months, will tend to check this, or the reverse, remains to be seen. But the facilities for the transportation of supplies and intending settlers, the railroad, and the rush of competition by other modes of conveyance, all tending to cheapen the cost of subsistence and to a more moderate scale of prices in the labor market, cannot but bring the whole of the vast gold territories, especially Colorado, in a very short time under almost the same industrial rule and influences which prevail in older communities.

It has of course to be borne in mind by those who do not desire to be carried away by wild and indefinite mining schemes that there was a rush of emigration to Colorado quite as great as the present in 1858 and 1859 as it promises to be this spring. But unfortunately the speculators that went with the rush and by the year 1861 they had such control of the stocks, and were in a position so to manipulate them, one set endeavoring to get the better of the other set, that actual, practical operations were paralyzed. It would appear from our exchanges from the Territory that this is now all changed for the better, and that the reaction against speculation is strong and steady. Without accepting on Mr Bayard Taylor's authority, the statement that "the mines will yield a hundred millions a year for a thousand years," there is enough in the reports which have the least appearance of high coloring to justify those who have the necessary industry, courage endurance and intelligent enterprise to strike out by the thousand on this line of emigration. The newest mining appliances have begun to be introduced. Between the great gold bearing spurs of the Grass Valley Bar and the Montgomery Bar the waters of Clear Creek are being used by means of hydraulic apparatus to dislodge the surface soil on either bank, and the testimony of Mr Taylor as to the progress of the engineering operations in that auriferous region seems to be unqualified as to the certain success which awaits those who are prepared to go in earnest to work, instead of speculating.

Those however who seriously think of turning to this Western region, should carefully seek out all the information of an authentic character they can get before starting. We have pointed out much that promises well. There may nevertheless be drawbacks which should be carefully weighed.

Fenian Matters.

The Toronto Globe of Tuesday has the following Fenian items:

On Saturday morning last, a man named Kennedy was arrested while on the way from this city to the Falls, on suspicion of Fenianism. The man is a resident of Cincinnati, and came to this city as he alleges, about three weeks ago, in order to use efforts to secure the release of his son, who was then in the old gaol here, but since sent to Kingston for twenty years as a convicted Fenian. He left this city on Saturday morning followed by the Government Police who succeeded in ascertaining sufficient about his errand here by the time he reached Grimsby to arrest him. On his person was found a map of this section of Canada, a list of the jurors on the trial of his son, and the address of Judge Wilson. His explanation is that these papers were furnished him to enable him to get the signatures of the parties to a petition for the release of his son. Some he had received and the others he spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in getting. The Police Magistrate meanwhile ordered him to be detained in custody.

A company of Buffalo Fenians known as the Emmett Guards, came down yesterday to Suspension Bridge, in full military uniform and with fifes and drums playing. Their avowed object was to attend a ball given at the Bridge last evening. A rumor got currency that the ball was a mere feint and that they were to be joined at the Bridge by Fenians from various directions—but we believe this to have been entirely unfounded. The military authorities were, however, on the alert—the force at the Bridge having been strengthened by a detachment of the 16th.

A Melancholy Howl.

The True Index, published at Warrentown, Virginia, utters the following first class howl over the Reconstruction bill:

"Virginia is Virginia no more. The record of her past fame is rolled up and laid away. The memory of her sons who made a bee line to Boston and poured out their blood for a principle which involved only the material interests of her New England sisters, is forever ignored. Like the prisoner of the Bastile upon whom its gloomy portals once closed in the bloody reign of Red republicanism in France, she has lost all other than a numerical designation and even the lips of the turnkey who doles to her her bread and water, refuses to utter the name by which she was honored among the nations of the earth. She is now district No 1. And who is responsible for this crowning victory? Those over whom she has yearned as a mother, and around whose infant limbs she has thrown the protecting arms of a mother's love. Those who have suckled at her breasts and drawn life and substance from her generous and heroic being. Is there no flash from heaven to blast the heart of ingratitude? Is there no thunderbolt in the vast concave to strike terror and dismay to the hyenas who are gorging at her grave, and gloating with bloodshot eyes over her sacred bones? How long, O Lord! how long? Yet do we see through the eye of faith, amid the darkness and gloom that curtains the present, the glorious inscription that will yet blaze upon her front—REBURGAM."

A Novel Amusement.

The newest exhibition in London is that of Herr Schulz entitled "Masks and Faces." The Era says: Ernst Schulz paints his wonderful portraits in a moment of time, and the celerity of the changes from himself to his subjects is not the least astonishing peculiarity of the entertainment. The noble British public concentrates its attention on the amiable looking German physiognomist, who, while chatting pleasantly, runs his fingers through his hair, and lightly touches his cravat. Suddenly the whole shape and expression of the face appear altered, and the aforesaid public confront "a purse proud man," a pitifully mean individual, a stony hearted oppressor, a hard, avaricious hoarder of riches, a social blight, and a well fed impostor, such as we are perfectly familiar with.

This one instance of Ernst Shultz's skill is accompanied by others equally deserving of mention, and in the second part he treats of the "Lights and Shadows of Character betrayed in the Beard." The lecturer is materially assisted by certain inscrutable arrangements which enable him to throw, with marvellous precision the shadow of a beard or moustache upon the face. Herr Schultz does not miss the mark by a hair's breadth, but, sitting at a table, he managed to throw the particular shadow required on his chin, upper lip, or cheek, as the case may be. The "Blustering Beard," "Mutton chop Beard," "Diabolical," &c., are brought before the audience in due course.

The Surratts.

Recent events have brought before the public mind afresh the incidents connected with the late national tragedy, and invested with additional interest all that can be gleaned in relation to the family of him who has been brought to this country charged with having been an accomplice in the assassination of President Lincoln. The records of the Maryland Institute inform us that the Surratts were among the earliest names in the colony of Maryland. During the administration of Lord Baltimore, tempted by the liberal offers of the royal Governor, they emigrated from England where they had been residing for some years as French Catholics, and scattered themselves as farmers through the counties of Ann Arundel and Calvert in that province. One of the descendants of this family—the father of John H Surratt—seems to have been given to roving, and after farming in various portions of Charles and Prince George's counties, occasionally selling his slaves at Alexandria, he moved to the vicinity of Washington, in order, it is said, "to give his wife spiritual facilities," but probably for the sake of the profits of a small cross road tavern which he connected with his farm at Surrattsville. The mother, who was a zealous Catholic, had destined both her boys for the priesthood. One of them, however, preferring the sword to the cowl, after making himself conspicuous in the John Brown raid, finally joined the rebel army. From this point all trace of him has been lost. According to the popular gossip of the neighborhood, Mrs Surratt mingled in good country society, was especially famous for her excellent housekeeping, and excelled in the manufacture of what is known in that part of the country as "Maryland biscuit." Upon the death of her husband, her son John took care of her interest. He was a fair scholar, and wrote neat composition. A thorough Southerner, he was the slave of local traditions and prejudices, which warped a mind never well balanced or strong. By those who knew him at this time he is represented as physically wiry and too vain not to fight when incensed, but the general estimate of his character seems to have been that if he had been placed in any thriving, energetic community he would have settled down into an extremely common place man. How far this latter estimate was correct the evidence that will probably be elicited within the next few weeks will determine. Common place or not, his name is destined to an unenviable notoriety in the future.

Ex-Auditor General Isaac Slenker.

From the Harrisburg Telegraph

At the time C V Culver obtained possession of certain collateral securities deposited with the Auditor General, Hon Isaac Slenker, we condemned the transaction as a violation of trust on the part of that officer. The barren facts in the case then seemed to justify this condemnation and we condemned Mr Slenker for official and not personal dereliction of duty. The recent trial of C V Culver has established the fact that he was the general agent, manager, and out door superintendent of the officers of the Venango Bank and transacted all the business of that establishment from its organization in 1862 until its failure in 1866. The establishment of this fact completely exonerated Mr Slenker from all blame in delivering to Mr Culver the collateral securities in return for a like amount for the circulation of the Venango Bank, and it is due to the integrity of the late Auditor General that we should emphasize this statement, as beyond all question he is a man of strict integrity, and was guided in the transaction to which we heretofore alluded, by a conviction that he was only doing his duty. The trial and acquittal of Mr Culver exonerated Mr Slenker, and it is only the discharge of a pleasing duty for us thus frankly to admit the fact.

The Gambling Dens.

From the Chicago Tribune

The police, on Tuesday night made their second descent upon the keno rooms on Randolph street, and captured some forty players besides the proprietors. When the first descent was made, the Police Judge fined the sixty captives five dollars each, thus taxing them in the aggregate three hundred dollars. We then advised the Court, in case of the continuance of these dens, to double the fine every time the players were brought before him. We are glad to be able to record that the Judge accepted our suggestion, and fined each of the forty parties captured on the second descent ten dollars. The tax was greater in the aggregate and per capita on the second arrest. Now, if he will fine each of the keno players who may be brought before him on the third arrest twenty dollars, we think his judgments will have a decided effect in keeping persons out of the establishment.

Superstition About Business.

It is wonderful how many sensible men are the slaves of superstitious dread. Just at the present time, for instance, not a few croakers tell us that every ten years bring a financial crash, and that the unfortunate year is always in seven. In proof thereof they note especially 1837 and 1857. They are certain the omens are upon us already, and that 1867 is sure to be a most disastrous year. Well, if any men are so foolish and cowardly as to join hands with superstition, let them do so. Dull times there have been, to be sure, but a great financial disturbance is hardly possible. There has not been credit enough—merchants have been too watchful for any general crisis. Already business is reviving, and soon we shall have passed this dead and unprofitable season.

CONTEST BETWEEN BINGHAM AND BUTLER.

NEW YORK, March 26.

The Paris correspondent of the London Sunday Gazette says: Stephens and a number of American officers are in Paris, quite innocent of the rising in Ireland, which took them by surprise.

The Opinione Nationale of Paris has an article on the Fenian movement in which it hints that the United States Government connived at the rebellion in the interest of Russia as a means of embarassing England at a critical moment of her diplomacy on the Eastern question.

The Law Committee of the Common Council have reported in favor of the selection of Union or Madison Squares as a site for a Post Office.

The Herald's Matamoras special denies the report of the defeat of the Liberals near Queratoro by the force under Maximilian. The Liberal lines are within seven miles of that place.

Gov. Patton, of Alabama, has published a long letter, in which he advises the people to accept the terms proposed by Congress for reconstruction cheerfully and carry out the law faithfully.

The Herald's Richmond correspondence says: John Minor Botts recently called on Gen. Schfield and gave some advice regarding the manner in which the new powers delegated to the General, as Commander of the District, should be applied. No reply was vouchsafed to him, however, and he left, feeling himself snubbed.

The press are all turning their attention to securing the negro vote, and Hunnicutt's paper warns the colored people against voting for rebels.

In Louisiana similar efforts are being made by the politicians who a month ago were defiantly bent on not voting at all if the negro did, and their late leaders did not. Now they call upon their leaders to sacrifice themselves and the negro to vote with their old masters and best friends.

The first act of General Sheridan under his new authority, it is reported, will be the removal of Mayor Monroe and the secession municipal government.

Governor Wells and the General, who have been enemies since the riots, have resumed amicable relations.

The "Grand Army of the Republic," an association of discharged Federal soldiers, numbers over 7,000 men in two parishes of the State alone and is extending all over the State.

Accounts of lawless outrages in North Carolina are still reported.

The Times' special says: It is stated on good authority that in the caucus which induced the Senate to recall its resolution for adjournment until December and which likewise stopped the action of the House to-day on this subject, there were intimations from General Grant and Secretary Stanton that it might be injurious to the progress of reconstruction under the Military bill for Congress to adjourn until December without a provision for coming together in the meantime if necessary.

Information was received to-day that the Montana bonds, supposed to have been lost in the Southern Hotel, New York, have been recovered.

The Tribune's special says the postponement of action on the adjournment of Congress was caused by anticipated trouble in the South, and that General Grant advised against an early adjournment as trouble is also anticipated in Maryland during the sitting of the Convention which is to frame a new Constitution for that State.

Prominent Radicals of Maryland have been asking aid from Congress.

NEW YORK, March 26.

The Tribune's special says: The President stated to-day that he would send to the Senate tomorrow the nomination of United States Marshal of Louisiana. This is the most lucrative Government office in the country. Generals Herron and Kirby Smith are the candidates.

The Senate Finance Committee has reported favorably on the nomination of Gen. Steedman as Collector of Internal Revenue in the First District of Louisiana. This may probably secure his confirmation. Mr. Sherman, of the Finance Committee, is a warm personal friend of General Steedman.

DETROIT, Mich., March 26.

Henry C. Knight, Prosecuting Attorney for this county and alderman for several years of the Fifth Ward, died this morning.

ST. LOUIS, March 26.

The Republican's St. Joseph special gives the following account of the Fort Phil. Kearney massacre, received by the Commissioner from some Crow Indians, who received it from the Sioux:

The Sioux drew our men out of the fort and killed them all. Our men fought like tigers and would not have been mastered so easily had they not kept so closely together. The combatants were so mixed up that the Indians shot their arrows and killed several of their own party. The bravery of our bugler was much admired, he having killed several Indians by beating them on the head with his bugle.

They say there were only sixteen Sioux and four Cheyennes killed on the field, but after they encamped ninety-four warriers died from their wounds and three hundred others were wounded, half of whom they expected would die. One big Sioux Chief was among the killed. They mention one man on a white horse who cut off an Indian's head with a single stroke of his sabre, and say that when reinforcements left the fort for the battle ground they (the Indians) left, having had enough fighting.

There were 2,200 Indians engaged in the fight, and the strength of the concentrated tribes is reported at 2,800 lodges, which are now moving towards the Yellowstone and Missouri riders.

The land in the Pottawattamie reservation, north and west of Topeka, Kansas, belonging to the Union Pacific Railroad, will be brought into market at once. Judge Devereaux, Land Commissioner, will open an office there. Nearly 200,000 acres of the Delaware, Sac and Fox reservations, belonging to the same company, will be offered at public sale at Lawrence, Kansas, commencing April 22d.

The Secretary of the Interior has forbidden squatters going on the lands of Indians with whom treaties have lately been made until the treaties have been published.

FORTIETH CONGRESS—First Session.

WASHINGTON, March 26.

SENATE.

The bill to fix the 1st of June as the day for the Bankrupt bill to go into operation was referred to the Judiciary Committee, after rejecting an amendment changing it to the 1st of January.

The Vice President submitted a communication from the Secretary of the Interior stating that his Department was unadvised of any suspension of the work by the Union Pacific Railroad and unprepared to recommend any legislation. Tabled.

Mr. Howe reported from the Committee on Claims, with amendments, the House joint resolution relative to claims of certain Northern creditors, which passed.

Mr. Sumner introduced a bill to enforce several provisions of the Constitution, abolishing slavery, declaring immunities of citizens and guaranteeing a republican form of Government by securing the elective franchise to colored citizens. It provides that every citizen shall have the right to vote in every State or Territory at all elections for Federal, State or local officers of every kind on equal terms, without regard to race or color, all State or Territorial Constitutions or laws to the contrary notwithstanding. Ordered to lie on the table and to be printed.

Mr. Trumbull reported the House resolution for adjournment, with an amendment by way of substitute. The Judiciary Committee recommended in lieu of the House resolution that the two Houses adjourn on Thursday next at 12 o'clock.

After considerable debate several propositions were made and voted down. Finally, Mr. Trumbull's proposition was adopted.

Executive session.

HOUSE.

Mr. Eggleston introduced a joint resolution providing for the necessary surveys for a ship canal around the falls of the Ohio. Passed.

Mr. Schenck introduced a joint resolution authorizing the employment of Brevet-Brigadier General Seth Eastman in the decoration of the Capitol. Passed.

Mr. Covode offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Public Expenditures to inquire whether any legislation is necessary to secure the prompt payment of bounties to soldiers under looking to an increase of the clerical force in the Second Auditor's office. Adopted.

Mr. Butler called the attention of members to the fact that Mr. Bingham had revised, altered and materially changed the Globe's reported manuscript of the personal debate last week between himself and Bingham. Mr. Butler then laid on the desks of members a printed pamphlet showing the report as written and the report as printed. He characterized this proceeding as most unfair. In defense of his own assertion made the other day that Mr. Surratt was hung without sufficient evidence, he charged that J. Wilkes Booth's diary, which showed all his movements preparatory to the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, was kept from the knowledge of the Court, and it now appeared that it had been spoliated by having eighteen pages of it cut out after going into the hands of the Government. He said there is still remaining in the diary a memorable instance, written a few hours before Booth's death, and quoted from memory: "I have endeavored to cross the Potomac five times and failed. I propose to return to Washington and give myself up and clear myself from this great crime." He contended that this piece of evidence would have shown, in his judgment, that Booth up to a certain hour meant the capture and abduction of Lincoln, and that he changed his purpose and resorted to assassination. If Mrs. Surratt did not know of this change, she would have had no knowledge of the intended assassination and therefore probably would not have been convicted. If all the testimony had been presented we should have been able to pursue the accomplices and find out who it was that changed Booth's purpose from capture to assassination—who it was that was to profit by assassination and that would not profit by the capture of Mr. Lincoln—who it was that should succeed to Mr. Lincoln in case the bullet made a vacancy.

Mr. Bingham replied: In the excitement and hurry at the time it so happened that the report of my reply to the gentleman was the most imperfect report ever sent to me of remarks made by me in the House. Any gentleman may examine it and will fail to find in the corrections a single accusation that is not, by express words or by necessary implication, in the reporters' notes. I defy his calumny. What charge is he complaining of? That I said he had condemned without knowing or caring for the evidence? I say so yet. If he is the lawyer he is reputed to be, then he is to be pitied for coming here and arraigning his peers for not consenting to admit testimony of a man accused, made after the fact. I defy him, by any investigation which he dare institute, here or anywhere, to show that any communication came into my hands purporting to be the production of John Wilkes Booth that was not made after the fact, and long after the fact. Is there any lawyer in America or England who would say that the words and declarations of an accused felon, after the fact is, an evidence, which the advocate for the Government is bound to admit in any court? I treat with contempt and scorn any intimation from any quarter that I or my associate counsel were under obligation to admit any such evidence. The law does not require it. The common law—the growth and gathered wisdom of a thousand years—excluded it. Perhaps that great monument of wisdom and learning is not equal to the incomparable genius of the incomparable hero of Fort Fisher. [Laughter, which the Speaker endeavored to suppress.]

Mr. Butler tried to get in a remark, but Mr. Bingham would not let him, adding that the gentleman from Massachusetts had no right to ask favors at his hands.

Mr. Bingham continued. I never saw any memoranda by John Wilkes Booth which indicated any plan or motive by which he was to carry out his projected conspiracy. I never saw any such thing, and I am not surprised that the gentleman would not let me see the book which he put into his pocket.

Mr. Butler again assayed to make an explanation, but with no better result.

Mr. Bingham said: No, sir, I do not care about it. Having refused to let me inspect the book on which he based his charge, he may now imitate the example seen in the vision of the Apocalypse, and turn around and eat it. [Laughter.] The gentleman talks of "a spoliated book." Who spoliated? That is about as interesting a query as that to which I referred the other day: "Who killed Cock Robin?" Who knows that it is spoliated? If John Wilkes Booth tore pages out of it, was that spoliation? The gentleman's words are as impotent as they are unwarranted. "Let the galled jade wince, my withers are unwrung." I challenge him and dare him, here or anywhere in this tribunal or any tribunal, to assert that I spoliated any book. Such a charge as that without any title of evidence is only fit to come from a man who lives in a bottle and is fed with a spoon. [Laughter.]

What is the other statement here, showing the heartlessness of this accusation, its utter disregard and contempt for all decency and all law? It is that I controlled the evidence in the Court. The gentleman knows I was not the official organ of that Court. He knows its Recorder was the Judge Advocate General of the United States, and yet I am to be at fault because I did not over rule the official organ of the Court! The gentleman has undertaken a task entirely beyond his powers, and only proves in this thing which he has undertaken to do that the execution of the war on his part in this instance, as in others, is by no means up to the high and sounding mark. [Laughter.] Let the gentleman read my argument on that subject and let him show wherein it is false, corrupt, malicious or unjust.

Mr. Butler tried to make a brief explanation, but Mr. Pike and others objected.

Mr. Hamilton Ward asked leave to offer a resolution, reciting Montgomery Blair's declaration that Mrs. Surratt was improperly convicted and Mr. Butler's declaration to the same effect, and directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the matter.

Objection was made and the House refused to suspend the rules to let it be offered.

The Speaker presented a letter from the Clerk of the House stating that he had furnished the Secretary of State with the Supplementary Reconstruction act and had been informed that the Secretary would promulgate it.

Adjourned.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE

Central Pacific R. R. Co.

HAVING COMPLETED, EQUIPPED AND PUT IN OPERATION NEARLY ONE HUNDRED MILES OF THEIR RAILROAD, FROM SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, TO WITHIN 12 MILES OF THE SIERRA NEVADA MOUNTAINS, CONTINUE TO OFFER FOR SALE, THROUGH U THEIR

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

Issued in conformity with the Acts of Congress and the laws of the State of California, upon the division of their road located in the State of California, and extending one hundred and fifty-six miles from Sacramento City to the California State line.

The Bonds have Thirty Years to run from July 1, 1866, and are secured by a

FIRST MORTGAGE,

CONSTITUTING AN ABSOLUTE PRIOR LIEN ON THE PORTION OF THE ROAD ABOVE NAMED, WITH ALL THE RIGHTS, FRANCHISES, EQUIPMENTS, &c., pertaining thereto.

The amount of these First Mortgage Bonds to be issued per mile is limited by law to the amount of United States Bonds allowed and issued to aid in the construction of the Road, and the Mortgage by which they are secured is DECLARED BY ACT OF CONGRESS TO CONSTITUTE A LIEN PRIOR AND SUPERIOR TO THAT OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

Interest at the rate of Six per cent. per Annum, payable Semi-Annually, on the First days of January and July.

Principal and Interest payble in

UNITED STATES GOLD COIN,

in the City of New York.

The price of the Bonds is fixed for the present at 96 per cent., and accrued interest from January 1st in Currency, the Company reserving the right to advance the price whenever it is their interest to do so.

The Road forms the Western part of the

Great National Pacific Railroad,

authorized, adopted and aided by the United States Government.

It runs through the heart of the richest and most populous section of the State of California, connecting the with Sacramento and the Pacific Coast, from whence their supplies must be drawn; and the Earnings of the portion already running are very heavy, and largely in excess of the interest upon the Company's Bonds.

Having been for some time familiar with the operations of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, we are satisfied that they are conducted with rare ability and prudence, and that the energetic and economical management of the Company's affairs entitles them to the confidence of Capitalists and of the public. We have carefully investigated the progress, resources and prospects of the Road, and have the fullest confidence in its success, and in the value and stability of the Company's securities. The attention of Trustees of Estates, Institutions and individuals desiring a long, safe and remunerative investment, is especially invited to these First Mortgage Bonds.

Orders may be forwarded to us direct, or through the principal Banks and Bankers in all parts of the country.

Remittances may be made in drafts on New York, or in Legal Tender Notes, National Bank Notes, or other funds current in this city, and the Bonds will be forwarded to any address by Express, free of charge. Inquiries for further particulars, by mail or otherwise, will receive prompt attendance.

SPREADING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE.

Varieties.

—A regular meeting of the Common Council will be held this evening.

—Oil of 44 gravity sold at the wells near Petroleum Centre yesterday at $2 00.

—Linesville has seven physicians, an average of one for each one hundred inhabitants.

—We give in the petroleum market this morning an estimate, by our own reporter, of the daily production of oil in Pennsylvania.

—The Board of Trade of Cleveland has followed the example of that of Buffalo and repealed the central system. This action was taken on Saturday afternoon.

—Eight candidates were initiated at the meeting of the Good Templar Lodge on Monday evening There were about thirty new propositions for membership.

—A regular meeting of the Literary Association will be held this evening. There will be reading exercises, essays and debates. The general public are invited.

—A religious fancy party was recently given in New York. All present assumed Scriptural characters or those of pious celebrities, and the exercises opened with prayer.

—Weak doses of washboard are now recommended to ladies who complain of dyspepsia.—Young men troubled in the same way may be cured by a strong preparation of wood-saw.

An exchange paper tells of a hard-drinking man who was bitten by a dog. The man survived, but the dog was seized with delirium tremens a few hours after and committed suicide by drowning.

—The members of the Meadville Bar despatched another committee to Harrisburg on Monday to oppose the new county bill. The committee consists of Judge Derrickson, Henry C. Johnson and Pierce Church.

—Messrs. Fred. A. Howe & Co. have sold their lumber property in Forrest and Warren counties to the Pittsburgh & Forrest County Lumber Company for $200,000. Mr. Howe retains a large interest in the new Company.

—The name of the Good Templar Lodge in this city has been changed from WASHINGTON to SAGUWATHA, the former being the name adopted by the first Lodge organized in this State. SAGUWATHA was the Indian name of Red Jacket, the illustrious chief of the Senecas. It signifies "ever awake," "vigilant," &c.

Wheeling into Line.

The following telegraphic dispatch from Richmond to the New York press is one of the most noticeable signs of the times:

RICHMOND, VA., March 23, 1867.

It will be authoritatively announced to-morrow that Gen. Lee is strongly in favor of the people voting for a convention, and recommends that every man not actually disfranchised should not only take the necessary steps to prepare himself to vote, but to prepare all his friends, white and colored, to vote right. He thinks the co-operation of all the people, officials and citizens, should be prompt, and that the chief object should be to get as quickly and quietly as possible back into the Union, with such rights as are left us. He thinks the oath proposed is such as every good citizen not disfranchised ought now to be able to take as a simple matter of truth and duty as a citizen of the country.

In view of the estimation in which Lee is held by the people of the South his opinions are not without importance, and we hail with pleasure the sensible counsel he seems disposed to give. Like Wade Hampton, he possesses sagacity enough to see that resistance or sullen inaction can only make matters worse for the South. If any one ever doubted the wisdom of the policy of universal suffrage, the change of attitude on the part of leading rebels which has been brought about by the passage of the reconstruction law must have convinced all that it is not only wise but the wisest policy that could possibly have been adopted.

The reconstruction policy of Congress has already secured to the blacks of the South a potent influence they never could have wielded without the right to vote. Already the leaders of Southern politics and society are courting their favor. "We will not object to political equality or universal suffrage," say the Wade Hamptons, "but we will guarantee and maintain them." "Very well," reply the negroes, "we will do our "best to get the disability removed which will "otherwise prevent you holding office or "voting." And so a mutual understanding and interest between the two races spring up at once, very satisfactory and not less curious. All Southern politicians who have an eye to the future, will soon see the advantage of securing the friendship of the black men without delay.

It only remains for the irrepressible Governor Wise, of John Brown notoriety, to wheel into line, and stack his stake for universal suffrage and "negro's rights." This will be much more practicable for the valorous Wise than his original project (proclaimed soon after Brown's raid) of marching to the North Pole, laying the whole country waste from the Potomac to that point, if he could only find ten chivalric Virginians to follow suit!

The Doyle Tragedy—Arrest of the Supposed Murderer.

We referred a few days ago to the arrest of a man named Winton at Rockdale Mills, Jefferson county, for the murder of an old lady named Betty McDonald; and stated that Winton was the supposed murderer of John Doyle. Since that announcement the parties investigating the Doyle murder have visited Brookville, where Winton is confined in jail, and have fully identified him as the man of whom they were in pursuit.

The theory of the Doyle murder is that the assassin was bribed to commit the deed. We are not at liberty to state the circumstances which led to his detection, but those who have followed up the case have perfect confidence in their ability to convict the man under arrest. He was followed last fall into Clearfield county and there arrested, but succeeded in effecting his escape, and was not afterwards heard from by the detectives until arrested as above mentioned, for the murder of Mrs. Betty McDonald, in Jefferson county. Should he escape conviction upon the latter charge, he will be held to answer on the former.

Exit Keno.

We publish an anonymous communication this morning from a person who "has seen the elephant" to his satisfaction, and testifies from personal observation to the tricks practiced by the operators. But our friend is wasting his ammunition. The Kenoites yesterday shook the dust of Titusville from their feet and removed to a more congenial atmosphere.

"They folded their tents like the Arab And silently stole away."

Hereafter they may be found at Corry. There is another squad at Pioneer and Petroleum Centre. They boast that there is "no law" in either of those places and they can pursue their vocation of fleecing greenhorns with impunity. We shall see how long it will last.

The Peabody Banquet.

The Trustees of the Peabody Educational Fund were in session at New York last week settling upon some practical base for carrying forward the work of education in the Southern States. On Friday night, Mr. Peabody gave a banquet to General and Mrs. Grant and the Trustees of his Fund at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.—Plates were laid for 73 persons, all of whom were present. We might devote a column to the reproduction of the glowing descriptions of the New York reporters, telling of the massive mirrors, the magnificent silver, the rare flowers, the eloquent music, the tempting bill of fare, the toilettes of the ladies, &c. We might give the list of the guests, among whom were many of the most distinguished of Northern and Southern celebrities, and print the whole of Robert C. Winthrop's address eulogistic of the munificence of Mr. Peabody; but we have room only for the reply of Mr. Peabody to the address and to the resolutions of the Trustees, which is as follows:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: I feel most deeply grateful to the trustees for the very kind resolutions they have presented me, to Mr. Winthrop for the complimentary manner in which he has proposed my health, and to you all I give my warmest thanks for the enthusiastic reception you have given to my name. I have at times been placed in very honorable positions, but in no instance did I ever feel more highly honored than at this time by the presence around me, not only of the highest officers of our army and navy deservedly renowned in both hemispheres—but by some of the most distinguished men of our nation both North and South, whose happy union and pleasant intercourse I trust is an omen of the brighter day which I hope is soon to dawn upon our beloved country. [Applause.] I cannot refrain from expressing my satisfaction at the harmonious action of the gentlemen who have done me the honor to act as my trustees, and at the happy auspices under which they have commenced their labors, which, I have great confidence, will be crowned by success, although I feel that this occasion should not be one of making speeches. One or two sentiments before we leave the table, I will now give: Our Country—our whole country—its Chief Magistrate, its Congress, its army and navy and the commanders of them both, who are with us here this evening.

When the applause with which this modest effort was received had subsided, Mr. Peabody gave as a concluding sentiment:

"The country in which I have so long lived and prospered, and its honored and beloved Queen."

Following this was a poetic address in honor of Mr. P. by Madame Botta; a toast to "Mrs. Grant and the Ladies of America," and a humorous speech by Hon. George Bancroft. The feature of the occasion which most deeply interest us is the speech of Mr. Peabody, and the new one which, we trust, it inaugurates. Northern and Southern men and women were sitting by the same festive board, and not a word was said of that "era of hate" which has deluged the country with blood. The American gentleman, whose generous heart has dictated millions for the education of a people wasted by war, speaks of the brighter day which is soon to dawn, and proposes "Our Country—Our Whole Country—its Chief Magistrate, its Congress, its Army and Navy." This is the right spirit, and when made the prevailing spirit the country will be in the possession of a legacy so munificent that Mr. Peabody's two millions will seem a paltry sum.

Railroad Slaughter and Damages.

On the 28th of August, 1865, a few days after the terrible railroad accident on the Oil Creek Railroad, a still more shocking disaster occurred on the Long Island Railroad. In the case of the Oil Creek Railroad accident, we believe very liberal disbursements were made by the company to the legal representatives of the victims, all damages were satisfactorily adjusted, and no suits for damages were ever brought into the courts. The management of the road was soon after transferred to H. F. Sweetser, and no casualty of particular importance has occurred during the term of his administration

The Long Island disaster attracted a great deal of attention at the time, and was generally regarded as one of the most reckless and inexcusable railroad slaughters on record. In several cases the company refused to make any reparation for damages, and this circumstance intensified the popular indignation. The accident resulted from a collision of trains between Hunter's Point and Jamaica; the two locomotives and several of the cars were smashed, four passengers killed outright and half a dozen more frightfully maimed. The Coroner's investigation showed an utter want of management on the road; trains were run on a single track without any regard to time tables, and the commonest rules of precaution were habitually disregarded Popular indignation ran so high that a Grand Jury in Queens county was impelled to bring in bills of indictment against the conductors of the trains, and, we believe, against the managing director of the road. The parties, however, were never brought to trial. Men of means and influence own the road, and they seem to have been able to stave off any action by the prosecuting authorities of Queens county. The railroad company has not been so fortunate in the Civil Courts. A verdict was rendered a few days since in a New York court, in which the Long Island Railroad Company were cast in $2,225 damages in favor of the administration of John R. Walker. This is the second bill of damages rendered against them, and other suits by victims of this disaster are pending. On this trial a point of some consequence to railroad companies was decided. For the defence it was alleged that the deceased was standing on the platform of the car when he was killed, in violation of the rules of the company. In answer, it was proved that the car was so crowded that several passengers could not get seats, and were compelled to stand on the platform. The Court ruled that railroad companies were bound to provide cars enough to accommodate all persons traveling on them, and failing to do so, were responsible for any consequences following from the inability of passengers to get seats. The verdict was a righteous one, and the damages not at all excessive.

IT is high time that the people of this vicinity should be made aware of the fact that the editor of the Republican is working body and soul in the interest of the Titusville clique, in order that they may govern themselves accordingly. The project will probably fail, but it will not be owing to any lack of support from the Republican or its publisher.—Meadville Journal.

We are glad to learn that Titusville has so staunch and influential a friend at Meadville as the editor of the Republican. [But the fact does not yet appear from anything he has said in his own paper respecting the new county or the half shire project. On the contrary, the Republican was the first paper in Meadville to "sound the alarm" respecting the bill for a separate judicial district. It was upon his own suggestion that a committee was appointed to visit Harrisburg and oppose the measure before any bill of that character had been introduced, or even prepared! The committee should have postponed their visit till the 1st of April. The Republican advertised it as a "sell" and the Journal being among the "sold" seems to take it grievously to heart.

MR. JOHN FAREL has closed up his furniture rooms, in accordance with an resolution long since formed, of going out of business. Persevere.

Spite of failure, spite of danger,
Persevere!
To all doubts and fears a stranger,
Persevere;
When a noble course is planning,
Doubting, wavering, is but sinning—
If success you would be winning,
Persevere.

Though ignoble tongues assail you,
Persevere;
Let your courage never fail you—
Persevere:
Bright the future flows toward you;
Your own deeds will yet reward you—
Let not hate or fear retard you—

The Fenian Prisoners in Canada.

In response to a resolution of inquiry from the House, the President has transmitted to that body a letter from the United States Consul at Toronto enclosing a communication from K. Mackenzie, the United States Attorney employed to defend the Fenian prisoners in Canada, in which the latter says the Court of King's Bench have given judgment in the case of Patrick McGrath, one of the prisoners, and have confirmed the conviction. It will be recollected McGrath was tried at the November court for participation in the Fenian raid of June last, as a citizen of the United States, and acquitted. At the January term he was tried a second time, on another indictment for the same offense, as a British subject. To the latter indictment Mr. Mackenzie recommended him to plead a plea of autrefois acquit, besides pleading over to the felony. He was convicted on the felony.

The result was as first above stated, the court having in this instance departed from a time-honored principle. There is no appeal; so the matter must rest The judgment in this case may be said to end the Fenian trials. The result of the trials is nineteen convictions and twenty-two acquittals. The original number of Fenian prisoners lodged in the military prison at Toronto was ninety-six or ninety-seven.

The Secretary of State reports to the President, who has sent his letter to the House, that the correspondence relative to the arrest, imprisonment and treatment of American citizens in Great Britain or its provinces within two years past is still in progress, and therefore its publication at the present juncture would, in the opinion of the Secretary, be incompatible with the public interest.

The Keno "Elephant."

Editors Morning Herald:

There is no good citizen who will not thank you for the manly and spirited manner in which you handled the gambling and keno dens of this city and vicinity in your Tuesday's issue. Allow one who has seen quite as much, if not more, of the "elephant" than he desires, to drop you a line on the subject The game of keno is the most seductive, and consequently the most ruinous, of all the innumerable devices, arts or accomplishments—if you may so term them—practised by tricksters, plump and professional gamblers for accumulating large fortunes out of the pockets of spendthrifts and greenhorns. I must confess to being classified among the fools, for idiotically, against my common sense and better judgment, mixing up with a set of sharps and money-grabbers; but the money which I lost is nothing when compared with the mortification and degradation which I feel in allowing the wool to be drawn over my eyes during the few hours which I spent in that particular den.

It is a well known fact that there never was a game of chance invented or a gambling hell established where the operator did not have it in his power to convert the game from one of uncertainty into one of certainty. The game of keno is especially open to this objection. Look at John Morrissey, the great keno gambler. Does any one imagine that he made his immense fortune on a percentage? or is it more reasonable to suppose that the game was in his own hands? Sleight of hand has accomplished many more wonderful feats than transferring three numbers to any given card among fifty, and all I can say is, if the operator does not take advantage of his position he is a bigger fool than those who stake their money. The ten per cent. paid the operator is a mere dodge to give the game the appearance of fairness, but the man must be worse than a fool who imagines that the class of men who run these machines will not take all the advantage they can get Professional blacklegs are compelled by reason of their position to feign honor and fairness in playing, or their business would fall to the ground. They never cheat when there is a possibility of it being discovered.

Now, does any man mean to assert that it is impossible to transfer these numbers to confederates without discovery? I say again, there are much more wonderful tricks performed by professional jugglers, without a possibility of discovery. When a young man or old fool visits from curiosity one of these keno establishments, the game being only one dollar at a time, with a chance of taking the whole pool, worth fifty times the amount, the temptation to invest is almost as strong as that which induces some to sink three or four thousand dollars in a hole for the chances of striking a flowing well. Although the impulse to play at both games is very strong, there is a very great difference between the two so far as the results are concerned—the one bringing with it a certainty of losing, and the other a chance of succeeding proportionate to the shrewdness exercised in judging of good territory. In keno the amount to be staked at one time is so small that little is thought of the first four or five games; but as game after game succeeds the other with astonishing rapidity, in a few hours the losses are counted by fifties and hundreds of dollars. Some influential or popular individuals are allowed to win for the purpose of drawing a larger crowd and giving the game an appearance of fairness; but in the long run the bulk of the money goes into the hands of the operators and their accomplices.

There has been enough money spent in these gambling hells throughout the region this winter to build and fill with oil 5,000 barrels of iron-tankage per day since the first of January and to make dozens of the frequenters of these establishments independently rich and to bring prosperity and happiness to thousands.

It has been urged that as many private families keep this keno apparatus for their innocent amusement, that there is no impropriety and nothing immoral about the game. This is true, and so are all games of chance moral games when there is no money or other valuable consideration to be staked, but as soon as the parties stake their money on the chance of winning, then the immorality commences, as it is an inducement for any unprincipled villain to convert it from a game of chance to one of certainty in his favor, and in that of his associates, and those who play at this game of keno are as certain to lose at the will of the operator as if they were to take the greenbacks and commit them to the flames.

In conclusion, let me advise those keno gamblers that in the city of Titusville we have a class of people who will not tolerate any such institutions in their midst either publicly or secretly, and if the authorities do not act in this matter and drive these kenoites back from whence they came, or if they succeed in evading the law for many days longer, and if they persistently refuse to leave, they may suddenly find themselves shrouded in a garment of tar and feathers and riding in procession to the Railroad depot comfortably mounted on a three cornered charger. Yours, truly,

ONE WHO HAS SEEN THE ELEPHANT.

CHEAP GROCERIES.—As large proportion of the necessaries, as well as many of the luxuries of life, are now embraced under the head of groceries, a desirable place to purchase becomes a question of much importance to housekeepers. We would refer our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Haight & Archer and their excellent assortment of all that constitutes a complete stock of groceries may be found.

Of teas they have a large and choice selection, which are being sold at uniformly low figures.—Pure fresh coffees are here made a specialty.—The real Old Java and fragrant Mocha are their leading varieties, while Rio, Maracaibo and many prepared coffees are on their shelves.

For sweetening they have loaf, lump, crushed, pulverized and other varieties of sugars, with good heavy molasses and clear pleasant syrups.

In fruits, those in and out of season are furnished either in their fresh, green state, or carefully preserved. Country produce of the freshest quality and every variety. Flour of the best brands, and in fact everything belonging to the stock of a first-class grocery house may always be found at Haight & Archer's, and at either wholesale or retail prices.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD,
TITUSVILLE, March 26, 1867.

The Petroleum market is firm with an upward tendency and without any decided general change from our previous quotations. The quiet state of the market to-day was who by caused by an absolute scarcity of oil After a few sales had been made there was no more oil for sale at any price near that which was ruling in the market. A large number of producers have sold enough to cover their production for a week to come Notwithstanding that it was generally known that there was but a small amount of oil for sale, the inquiry was fair and mostly for the Cleveland and Pittsburgh markets. On Benneheff Run buyers are offering $1 85 for 47 gr. oil at the wells. On Pioneer Run offers were freely made of $1 70 for 47 gr. oil delivered on the cars and of $2 00 for 45 gr. oil delivered on the cars. On Church Run offers of $1 40 are freely made for 45 gr. oil at the wells. The sales reported are as follows: 500 barrels on Benneheff Hill, for the Cleveland market, 45 gr., at at $1 75 at the wells, or $1 95 delivered on the cars at Boyd Farm; 200 barrels on Church Run, for the Boston market, 47 gr., at $1 40 at the wells, 200 barrels on the McClintock and Dalzell Farms, from G. K. Anderson's wells, for the Pittsburgh market, under 45 gr., at $2 00 at the wells; 500 barrels on Benninghoff Hill, from the Overy well, for the Cleveland market 45 gr., at $1 85 at the wells.

The amount and destination of Petroleum reported purchased to-day between Titusville and the Hyde & Egbert Farm, were as follows:

Snow's Patent Liquid Packing Pump for OIL WELLS.—This celebrated "Pump" having been most successfully and generally used in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and bearing a fame unsurpassed for its durability and wear, and the general good results of its application, doing away with leather and all other flexible packing, thereby avoiding the perplexities of a leather packing valve, and having all the advantages of other pumps and valves in bringing and keeping up the production of oil, I take pleasure in announcing to the public that I am now prepared to furnish any demand for these Pumps at the shortest notice. Below I give a few of the numerous testimonials I have received in their favor, and also "by permission," refer for information as to their durability, and general good results to R. W. Fancett, Superintendent of Philadelphia Petroleum Company, using them in every pumping well belonging to the Company; W. J. Rundle, Superintendent of lease 33, Bonnebolt Run; J. P. Fowler, Superintendent of New York & Chicago Petroleum Company; C. L. I. Winand, Church Run; Wm. Spence, Bennehoff Run; Mr. J. Hoope, Superintendent of Bennehoff Run Petroleum Company; E. L. Pitcher, Superintendent of National Oil Company; C. H. Page, Superintendent Ocean Oil Company.

TESTIMONIALS

WEST FITHOLE, PA., Nov. 21, 1866.

WILLIAM R. SNOW, ESQ.—Dear Sir: In answer to your request for my experience with your pumps, I cheerfully state that I have used one of them for about two months and have found them entirely reliable, having performed all the requirements that was claimed for them.

The entire absence of leather packing and consequent lessening of friction in the working barrels makes the strain on the sucker rods much less, which is a great consideration in pumping deep wells, and I cheerfully recommend them to those having such.

Yours, respectfully, ROWLS L. PETCHAM,
Superintendent National Oil Company.

BENNEHOFF RUN, Nov 21, 1866.

W. R. SNOW—Dear Sir: In reply to yours, asking for a "correct" statement as to the use of your pump on this farm, I cheerfully certify that on the 15th of August last I applied one of your pumps to well 26, belonging to the Bennehoff Run Petroleum Company, which had been pumping four weeks with a brass working barrel and "casing," about forty barrels a day. On the application of the "Snow Pump" the well increased to over one hundred barrels per day, and has been pumping at that rate ever since without ever having drawn the sucker rods to this date.

I also certify that I have three of your pumps in my own wells, viz: Nos. 51, "924" and 2, which have worked to my entire satisfaction, giving little or no trouble with drawing sucker rods. No. "924" is this morning producing at the rate of one hundred barrels per day.

Yours, very truly, WM SPENCE.

TITUSVILLE, Dec. 29, 1866.

W. R. SNOW, Esq.—Dear Sir: I can cheerfully certify in favor of your valuable Pump I bought of Bryan, Dillingham & Co., having previously tried all manner of patent valves, with no apparent success. I found that your pump has increased my well over one half, and considering the low price of oil, when it takes a large production to pay expenses, I consider your pump invaluable If another could not be procured I would not take $600 for it. R. W. DOLBROOK, Sgt't N. Y. & Providence Lense Co.

Orders for these Pumps will be filled by addressing BRYAN, DILLINGHAM & CO., Sole Manufacturers, Titusville, Pa., and forwarded by express to all parts of the oil regions.

Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills—A Substitute for Calomel.—These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In a liver disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last state of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

EMPIRE LINE.

THE EMPIRE TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Now offers to the business community a RELIABLE FAST FREIGHT LINE between the EAST AND THE WEST, and the GREAT OIL REGION OF PENNSYLVANIA.

It owns and controls all the cars of its Line, which are new and built expressly for its trade, and furnished with BROAD TREAD WHEELS, which enable it to run through irrespective of change of guage, thus avoiding the injurious delays prevalent at transhipping points

The Line is managed by men of long experience in the business, and no effort will be spared on their part to render satisfaction to its patrons

Parties ordering goods from the East will please direct Shippers to Mark Packages, "EMPIRE LINE," and refer them to the Agents of the Company for shipping directions, &c

Particular attention given to forwarding OIL to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore

For rates of freight, shipping directions, &c, apply to our Agents in the different Eastern and Western cities.

COL E A L ROBERTS

General Superintendent, Titusville, Pennsylvania

OFFICE AT THE RED PLANING MILL

Heretofore we have in our circulars, alluded to a series of experiments being made with Nitro Glycerine and other explosives. We now announce that we have succeeded, even beyond our most sanguine expectations as regards safety, handling also the unprecedented force an power manifested by a skilful combination whereby the use of the Torpedo is lessened and the force many times multiplied and are now prepared to operate on wells with any of the above named explosives—either with our improved combination or our old Combination Torpedo, which has a record of ability too well known to need mention here

8-lb. Nitro Glycerine, equal to 64 lbs powder	$150
16-lb. " " 1.3 lbs. powder	200
Combination equal to 100 lbs. powder	150
Improved combination, equ to 150 lbs powder	200
Double combination, equal to 200 to 1000 lbs powder	$250 to 500

CAUTION—The public is cautioned against employing any but the regularly authorized agents of this Company, since their patent, according to the recent decision of the Commissioner of Patents for the United States, covers the use of the Torpedo and all other explosive materials for oil wells, and the use of such materials by other parties is a direct infringement of their rights and we shall hold land or working interests to a strict accountability for such infringements.

Traveling Agents—James Sanders, N M Barney

Agents for Tarr and Blood Farms—Messrs. Barrows Kerr & Co.

For Bennehoff and Stevenson Farms—W B Snow Superintendent Harley & Co's Pipe Line

For Pioneer Run and Petroleum Centre—Charles A. Dunn and Levi Mason.

TARR FARM, June 12, 1866

Col E A L ROBERTS—Dear Sir Yours of the 11th instant, asking for information as to the results from the explosion of the Roberts' Torpedo in various wells on this farm, is at hand, and we take great pleasure in making the following statement, based upon our own observation and upon information obtained from various persons owning interests in the wells mentioned below
